Galletti joins Eurovent as Corresponding Member

Brussels, Bentivoglio, 09 April 2024. Galletti, an Italian based HVACR manufacturer has joined Eurovent as its newest member. The Eurovent Board announced Galletti's membership during its online meeting on Tuesday 19 March 2024.

Galletti, a family-owned company founded in 1906, manufactures hydronic indoor units, chillers, and air-water and water-water heat pumps. Through their new 'Open Innovation' approach, the company develops advanced design solutions for the tertiary and residential sectors. Sheet metal working has always been in Galletti's know-how. After years of experience in this sector, the company has committed itself to creating the automated sheet metal working centre that could become the heart of innovation and development of production processes.

Following the membership approval, Mr Luca Germano, Technical Director at Galletti, mentioned: "It is with great pleasure that Galletti, after being among the first companies to join the Eurovent Certification scheme more than 30 years ago, has now also decided to become a Corresponding Member of Eurovent. We are convinced that this decision will certainly bring mutual benefits and look forward to contributing to the European regulatory landscape."
